

*****REMINDAR*******

EOH Seminar Presentation:
Thursday, November 8, 2007
12:00-12:50 p.m.
P-41 GCR Building
Pizza Served

Environmental Public Health Tracking: “Integrating Health, Environmental Hazard, and Environmental Exposure Data to Inform Public Health Practice and Policy”

Heather Strosnider, MPH
Center for Disease Control

Abstract

Heather Strosnider will describe the Environmental Health information gap that prompted the development of a new Environmental Public Health Tracking Program at CDC. She will demonstrate the opportunity the program presents to bring together the often disparate fields of environmental monitoring, environmental health, and chronic disease surveillance.

Heather Strosnider is an epidemiologist for CDC’s Environmental Public Health Tracking Program where she evaluates existing data sources and makes recommendations regarding their use for the Tracking Network.